Muhammed Salayi is a professional portrait and landscape painter. Art has been a part of his life since early childhood, and he considers himself a self-taught artist. Muhammed has been an Artist in Residence at several galleries in Canada, has had many solo exhibitions, and his paintings and portraits are collected internationally.

Muhammed produces art in a representational style, a genre that combines impressionism and realism together with bold brush strokes. Besides NESAs and the CLSA in Edmonton, Muhammed has taught art at the Wellington Centre for Continuing Education in Guelph, Waterloo.
